Trainer Accreditation enables Headteachers, Teachers and Education Consultants to become Accredited de Bono Trainers, fully endorsed by Dr Edward de Bono to train educators, teachers and students here in the UK.

The Trainer Accreditation programme is an intensive three day residential course which accredits you to train other education professionals in The Six Thinking Hats® and CoRT1 techniques.

- The Six Thinking Hats® technique uses the concept of parallel thinking to develop systematic approaches to exploring ideas and issues and is very effective for students of all ages.
- The CoRT1 thinking tools are the Direct Attention Thinking Tools, which enable more focused thinking that are particularly useful when applied to specific thinking tasks, for example answering exam questions.

The tools are very effective at improving the attainment of students of all ages because they enable them to become more confident, independent thinkers. Similarly, these techniques have a number of applications for management, administrative and organisational tasks. The 'tools kit' provides structure and frames that allow smarter means of tackling quotes, problem solving and developing balanced arguments. They are also very powerful in adding creativity.

Atkey are the only Officially Accredited Education provider of Dr Edward de Bono's Thinking Tools in the UK and we are working with a growing network of accredited schools to enable students across the UK to benefit from the power of Dr de Bono's techniques.

Should you or a colleague become an Accredited Trainer you would be able to train teachers in your school and nationally, as well as assisting schools to become Edward de Bono Thinking Schools. You would also join our network of Consultants and if you wished, we may offer you training assignments as they come to us. In addition, as an Accredited Trainer you will be free to source your own training opportunities.

In acknowledgement of your becoming an Edward de Bono Accredited Trainer you would be presented with an internationally endorsed certificate and the Edward de Bono Trainer kitemark endorsed by Dr Edward de Bono himself.
